A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

Hello and welcome to our February/March edition of the Stonesthrow Directory.

After the New Year celebrations and settling back into a routine, February brings a sense of optimism in the air, that Spring is just around the corner, everything will get brighter and warmer, and we can embrace life again feeling refreshed and re-invigorated.

A few things to celebrate and to look forward to in the next couple of months: Valentine's Day, Half Term, Random Acts of Kindness Day (17th of February), Pancake Day (21st of February), St Patrick's Day, Mother's Day, etc. When deciding how to celebrate, what gifts to get your loved ones, please do chose local where possible: our shops, restaurants and other businesses are all heavily relying on your support, especially in times like these, when costs of simply running a business is at an all time high.

It may feel cold, wet and miserably at the moment, but our advertisers are here to bring comfort, improvement and joy to each and every household: we bring local trades, businesses and services closer to you, so you never have to get overwhelmed looking through millions of online listings.

Please do remember to mention Stonesthrow Directories each time you call our advertisers, so we may continue to fill up these magazines with trusted local businesses.

As always, we have prepared a list of local news and events (see p.26-27), a couple of good read articles, listings of your local restaurants & takeaways, useful local telephone numbers: it's all in one handy guide, brought to you by a local resident.

Here are the dates for your calendar:

14th of February - Valentine's Day;
19th of March - Mother's Day;
26th of March - Daylight Saving Time starts.

However you spend the next couple of months, keep your heart and your business local.

Yours, Stonesthrow Publications.

Misty Gouble Glazing?

Hi My name is Dave Millidge, let me introduce my company where I repair windows and replace misted up Double glazed units.

The area that I cover is Coventry and Warwickshire. You may have seen me around in your street or even have family and friends who I have worked for in the past ten years, with over 6,000 satisfied customers during that period. I started Misty to Clear to give customers the best value repairs in the current climate.

The Misty to Clear website allows total transparency of the customer experience. You can log into the website and view work that I have carried out. You can also leave feedback on social media. Therefore I give a 5 year guarantee on all new double glazed units fitted by Misty to Clear.

This is a genuine guarantee which does not come as an extra to my price.

I started Misty to Clear mindful that the cost of repairs is probably key to most people's budget when using tradesmen to do work on their behalf in their homes.

I offer a lower cost service to both old and new customers as I operate directly for the customer with no additional hidden charges or insurance costs to you the customer.

So my Company name is Misty to Clear where I can offer steamed up window glass replacement and fix broken handles, hinges, seals, window locks and door locks.

I also change glass in Velux windows too.

Satisfaction guaranteed to be a high standard that carries a 5 year manufacturer backed guarantee.

Clearly a great service!

Mark explained: "In early 2020 I had my own mental health struggles and with professional help and the support of good friends, I was able to deal with it and came out the other side mentally stronger and felt really good about things. So, this is just a case of I'd like to do something to give back. It is such a simple thing to set up a walking group, offer an outlet and see who turns up. I can be an ear for people, and just there to be spoken to. We all know what us blokes are like, not asking for help, and that is the main ethos of the group really”.

TIPS TO REDUCE CONDENSATION IN YOUR HOME

Condensation forms when warm air collides with cold surfaces, or when there's too much humidity in your home and creates water which collects as droplets on a cold surface when humid air is in contact with it. This is especially common in winter, when your central heating system comes on in the cooler hours of the mornings and evenings. While condensation itself isn't a problem, if you do not treat it, it can cause damp patches to form where mould can grow and this can be bad for your health, as well as damaging the fabric of your home.

USE PAN LIDS WHEN COOKING

Cover your pans with a lid when cooking ensure to reduce moisture being created from the water boiling. Also, ensure you are using an extractor hood if you have one above the cooker. Remember, don't turn off your extractor fan as soon as you finish cooking as the moisture can still be in the air even after you have finished, instead leave it on afterwards for 10-15 minutes to help to clear the humid air.

CLOSE KITCHEN & BATHROOM DOORS

Bathrooms and kitchens are the worst culprits for creating condensation on windows throughout your home. When cooking food, boiling the kettle, or taking a bath or shower, ensure that your kitchen or bathroom door is kept closed to prevent the moisture in the air from going into colder rooms which will cause condensation to form if it touches a cold surface.

DRY CLOTHES OUTDOORS

Whenever possible, try to dry your clothes outdoors to prevent excess moisture from building up in your property. If you are unable to dry your clothes outdoor then keep them in a bathroom with the door closed and windows open until the clothes are fully dry.

TURN ON YOUR EXTRACTOR FAN WHEN USING SHOWER

Similar to when cooking in the kitchen, when you are taking a shower or having a bath ensure that you turn on your extractor fan to remove the steam and moisture that is created when running warm water in a cold environment. This will help reduce the amount of condensation that appears on your bathroom windows and walls.

ENSURE WASHING MACHINE IS CORRECTLY VENTED

If you have a washing machine or tumble dryer in your property, ensure that it is vented correctly. From just one load of washing two litres of water is emitted into the air, this effect is only magnified if the machine is fitted in a kitchen as cooking will only add to the condensation.

MOVE FURNITURE AWAY FROM EXTERNAL WALLS

For the same reason as above, make sure that your furniture is at least 50mm away from the surrounding walls to improve the air circulation around the property. Try to ensure that wardrobes are placed against internal walls in your bedroom as these will be less cold than external walls and less likely to cause damp and mould problems.

OPEN WINDOWS WHEN WEATHER OUTSIDE IS WARMER

If you use a room on a regular basis, such as a living room and the weather is not cold outside, open a window slightly to improve the ventilation in the room. Breathing is one of the main causes of condensation so this will help to improve the ventilation in your property.

WIPE DOWN COLD SURFACES

If you don't have an extractor fan in your bathroom or kitchen then make sure that you wipe down any cold surfaces when you have been cooking or taking a shower to remove any moisture that may have settled on the surface. This excess moisture in the air sits on the surface and will quickly turn to mould if left untreated.

ENSURE YOUR PROPERTY HAS ADEQUATE HEATING

Ensuring an adequate amount of heating in your property will improve the internal temperature of surfaces in the house and reduce the likelihood of condensation. Also, make sure your home is energy efficient by ensuring you have insulated walls and double-glazed windows installed so the heat doesn't escape from the property.

DON'T OVERFILL WARDROBES & CUPBOARDS

Do not overfill your wardrobes or kitchen cupboards. A lack of ventilation and air moisture trapped in warm overfilled cupboards can become a breeding ground for mould as the air cannot circulate freely inside. You may notice a musty smell or find that clothes have a damp feeling to them which is a sure sign that the cupboard is overfilled.

10 TIPS

FOR COMMUNICATING WITH SOMEONE WITH DEMENTIA

It's hard to live with someone who has dementia. It can be difficult not to become upset with the disturbed communication and the emotions that the person will be feeling which may not be relevant to the reality. It can make family and caregivers feel stressed, anxious, irritated and utterly helpless.

Everyone's experience of the disease is different but repeating stories, not being able to think of the right words, losing track of thoughts, losing their way or forgetting where the rooms around them are situated, speaking less or speaking in another language are not uncommon.

However, even though the person affected by dementia may not be able to clearly express it, they are often still experiencing feelings and emotions that can confuse and upset them deeply.

Here are 10 tips on how to effectively communicate with someone who has moderate to severe dementia.

1. Dementia worsens progressively. People with dementia find it difficult to make sense of others and to communicate effectively. It is crucial to show empathy, patience and understanding.

2. Avoid distractions and noise. Speak in a normal tone of voice at a normal volume. In order to be able to share moments that matter, a quiet environment will enable the person with dementia to focus their mental energy. It'll also assist them in staying calm.

3. Refrain from 'babytalk' or speaking in frustrated and agitated ways. Avoid criticising or correcting, and repeat what they said if something needs to be clarified.

4. Refer to people by their names. For example: "Hi Dad. It's me, Louise" rather than "Hi. It's me" or assuming that they already know the names of the people around them.

5. Keep conversation simple. Over complicating it by going off at tangents will only upset them because they will rapidly become confused and tired. You'll need to ensure you have enough time to spend with them, if you feel rushed or stressed, so will they. Take some time to calm down.

6. Body language is important. Stay calm and smile. Position yourself where the person can see you as clearly as possible, sitting rather than standing over them. When dementia becomes very advanced, non-verbal communication may be the only option available and people with Alzheimers can understand kind touch, laughter and smiles. How you say something is often more important than what you say. Focus on feelings rather than facts.

7. It is very likely that your loved one will be 'stuck in the past' during conversation; a scenario from their days as a youngster, or something that happened last week. They are unaware of the time difference at that moment so don't try to correct them. Instead, listen, don't argue. They'll be far happier chatting away and reminiscing is really important.

8. Don't be personally offended if the person who has dementia uses bad or aggressive language or becomes paranoid or accusatory - it is so upsetting. But remember that deep down they're not feeling or understanding what they are doing.

9. Understand there will be good days and bad days. Moments when they have clarity and moments when their mind is muddled. Make the most of 'good' days and find ways to adapt on 'bad' ones.

10. Do not talk about your loved one like they are not in the room. Always assume he or she can understand what you are saying and include the person in conversations with others. It helps to keep their sense of identity and feel they are valued, reducing feelings of isolation.

The difference is clear. Over 30 years of serving our customers has taught us that value is not just about price, it's also about gaining valued relationships. Working with our clients starts with detailed planning and a fair price, but equally working together to surpass expectation. Additionally, our clients have the advantage of a wealth of experience and skill that bridge all construction trades.
